Dear Professionals,

Dear Sir/Madam,

The Department of Library and Information Science, University of Delhi has been publishing a research journal entitled 'Journal of Library and Information Science' (JLIS) since 1976. It is our endeavour to present current research activities and professional development in the field of information science and library services for the advantage of students, faculty members and research scholars working in different subject areas.

Research Articles are invited from the research scholars, teachers, librarians and other professionals in the field of information science, library services and ICT applications in LIS.

Resource Reviews are also invited related to books, websites, databases, software and information handling devices.

Thanks and Regards,

Prof. Shailendra Kumar

Head of the Department &

Editor, JLIS
